WHEN THE WEATHER GETS WICKED

Storms can bring plenty of scares, from howling winds to pouring rain. When a storm gets spooky, Beaches Energy crew members are ready to respond — but safety always comes first.

During the worst weather, our team stays safely inside. Linemen cannot work from bucket trucks when sustained winds exceed 35 mph. That's why we keep an eye on wind speeds and gusts throughout the storm, especially as sustained winds reach 40 mph or higher.

When conditions permit, our crews work to restore power throughout the community — even as the storm continues.

BEWARE OF DOWNED POWER LINES

Always assume downed power lines (and anything they may be touching) are energized. Keep your distance and leave the scary stuff to us!
